[illegible] Against Secretary Belknap.

Washington, March 2.—A report that Marsh, of New York, testified yesterday before the committee on expenditures in the War Department, that he paid Mrs Belknap $10,000 for a post tradership and $6000 yearly since, and that she did not deny the truth of the charge, became generally known this forenoon causing much surprise and sensation in official and other circles. Inquiries were made in all quarters to ascertain the precise facts in the premises, which resulted in a general belief that the reported testimony was entitled to credence, and this belief was further strengthened by the fact that about 10 o'clock this morning Secretary Belknap had an interview with the President, in company with Secretaries Bristow and Chandler and Senators Morton and Morrill of Vermont, the subject discussed involving the resignation of Secretary Belknap. The latter left the executive mansion with Secretary Chandler, and [illegible] to the department. It is thought [illegible] his resignation at the pleasure of the P[illegible]

McGill from the same committee reported a bill to extend the time of pre-emptions of public lands The bill extends the time two years, passed

The House went into committee of the whole, Saylor of Ohio in the chair on the bill to carry into effect the treaty with the Hawaiian Islands

Woods discussed at length the advantage of the treaty

At the close of Woods speech, and without action on the bill, the committee rose and Clymer presented a resolution of impeachment against Wm W Belknap late Secretary of War for high crimes and misdemeanors in office In the midst of great excitement and with unusual stillness in the House Clymer rose and said "I ask permission to make a report from the committee on expenditures in the War Department of so grave importance I am certain when it is heard the House will agree that I am justified in asking that permission at this time"

Permission was given, and Clymer taking his position at the clerk's desk read the following report The committee found at the very threshold of its investigation such unquestioned evidence of the malfeasance of Gen W W Belknap then Secretary of War, that they found it their duty to lay the same before the House They further report that this day a letter of the President of the United States was presented to the committee accepting the resignation of the Secretary of War together with a copy of his letter of resignation, which the President informed the committee was accepted about 10:20 this morning They therefore unanimously report and demand that said W W Belknap late Secretary of War, be dealt with according to the law of the land, and to that end submit herewith the testimony in the case taken together with the several statements thereto attached and also the report of the proceedings of the committee had during the investigation of this subject and submit the following resolutions

Resolved that W W Belknap late Secretary of War be impeached of high crimes and misdemeanors.

Resolved That the testimony in the case of Belknap be referred to the judiciary committee with instructions to prepare and report without unnecessary delay suitable articles of impeachment of said Belknap

Resolved, That a committee of five members of the House be appointed, and instructed to proceed immediately to the bar of the Senate and there impeach W W Belknap, late Secretary of War, of high crimes and misdemeanors when in office, and to inform that body that formal articles of impeachment will, in due time, be presented, and request the Senate to take such order in the premises as it may deem appropriate

Clymer then proceeded to read the testimony of Caleb P Marsh, taken yesterday before the committee He testified he had paid Secretary Belknap about $20 000 in consideration of his appointment as post trader at Fort Sill, Indian Territory The reading was listened to with intense interest by the House and by a large audience in the galleries. At the close of the reading, and after the members, who had taken up positions near the clerks' desk the better to hear the testimony and accompanying statements had returned to their proper seats Clymer who had also gone to his seat, arose and said with great emotion Mr Speaker, I would not, if I could, and I could not, in my present condition, if I would, say any thing to the facts just reported to the House Another occasion may be afforded to me to do so They are so plain that everywhere throughout this broad land, and throughout Christendom wherever the English language is read or spoken, they will for long years constitute a record of official corruption and crimes, such as there is no parallel for in our own history or that of any country that I know of In this hour if one sentiment of pity, one word of sympathy could find utterance from me, it would be because I feel that the late Secretary of War is but the proper outgrowth, the true exponent of the corruption, extravagance and the misgovernment that has cursed this land for years past That being my own reflection I will discharge my duty best to myself and to this House by demanding the previous question the adoption of the resolution

Kasson appealed to Clymer to give an opportunity for some suggestions to be made before asking the previous question on a matter of so grave importance

A VICIOUS HORSE

A Massachusetts paper says that on Saturday last as Mr J S Needham of Peabody that State, was riding in the neighboring town of Danvers he was attacked by an infuriated horse, which for a mile, with mouth wide open lips turned back eyes like balls of fire, continually attempted to bite him from behind the open buggy, he all the time striking the horse in the face, which only seemed to augment his fury The noise of the whip urged on Mr Needham's horse to a fearful speed down the hills of the Newburyport turnpike At the foot of one of the long hills Mr Needham sheered off twice he wheeled completely round to avoid the beast and twice it came alongside of his horse and commenced biting After crossing the Andover turnpike the horse made three attempts at Mr. Needham's horse's windpipe, and seized the breast plate and crowded the horse and buggy down an embankment, where the horse stopped held by the infuriated animal until the harness was bitten and torn off leaving the carriage free Mr Needham remained in the buggy until his horse was clear, and then let him go His horse went home followed by the crazy animal, and by the efforts of several neighbors after a long tussle he was rescued somewhat bitten The other animal which behaved so like a maniac horse it is said is always crazed when he sees a white horse and once bit a piece out of his owner's hand A short time since it attacked a horse in Middleton and was clubbed by a posse of men until several of its teeth were knocked out before it was conquered

In 1798 a Piedmontese officer owned a beautiful bay mare that was all that could be desired as a charger, as she feared neither the gleaming of arms the music of the bands or the noise of the guns She had however one fault which rendered her practically useless which was that when she caught sight of a white or light [illegible] horse she never rested until she had thrown her rider and rushed at the object of her dislike and attacked it in a most furious manner Another case is on record of a very fine horse which had an unconquerable aversion to paper the sight or sound of the rustling of which seemed to put him in a frenzy When he saw any paper or heard it rustling he would make the most violent efforts to get to it and tear it into pieces

One very simple process of taking leaf photographs is this At any druggist's get a dime's worth of bichromate of potash Put this in a two ounce bottle of soft water When the solution becomes saturated that is the water has dissolved as much as it will pour off some of the clear liquid into a shallow dish on this float an ordinary piece of writing paper till it is thoroughly moistened Let it become nearly dry in the dark It should be of a bright yellow On this put the leaf under it a piece of black soft cloth and several sheets of newspapers Put these between two pieces of glass (all of the pieces should be of the same size) and with spring clothes pins fasten them together Expose to a bright sun placing the leaf so that the rays will fall upon it as nearly perpendicular as possible In a few moments it will begin to turn brown but it requires from half an hour to several hours to produce a perfect print When it has become dark enough take it from the frame and put in clear water which must be changed every few minutes till the yellow part becomes perfectly white Sometimes the veining of the leaves will be quite distinct By following these directions it is scarcely possible to fail and a little practice will make perfect

OUR JURY SYSTEM

No IX

Some weeks ago I furnished through these columns a series of articles on the jury system

On a revision of the subject I desire to add to the views and historical facts then presented regarding the marked peculiarity of the Anglo American division of the power over law and fact respectively given to the judge, and to the jury and the relationship it bears to the system of ancient Rome with her judices, or triers of facts and the more modern Roman civil law where no jurors are allowed conceiving as I do that a short explanation of the transposition would not be uninteresting to those whose whose profession or general course of reading, has caused them to peruse the former articles

The great change occurred about the time republican Rome was giving place to imperial Rome and it was brought about mainly through the influence of the incoming despotism of the Roman emperors thus confirming the significance of the idea advanced in the first number that despotism and trial by judge desire to go hand in hand as the very first step upon the part of the absolute rulers whose maxim it was that the will of the prince had the force of law was to abolish the system of judices, and give to the judges absolute power over both law and fact.

Finlayson says that the old system was departed from in consequence of the spread of despotism, which probably more than any thing else undermined the strength of the empire

It might be commented that Gibbon, in his "Decline and Fall" does not mention this change in that portion of his learned work referring to the rise and progress of the civil law but we should recollect that since he wrote great developments have been made by the learned as to the true nature of the civil law of Rome The newly discovered Institutes of Gaius and the researches of moderns, have cast a flood of light on this grand old body of jurisprudence

The similarity between our system of to day, in the essential principles and that of the later days of the republican epoch of Rome is very great. Yet the mode of operation was different The same work was done by different machinery There the complaint was brought before a certain personage called the magistratus who laid down the law and subsequently controlled the force of the state whose duty it was ministerially to carry out the law as adjudicated When the defense was set up of course, an issue was formed If the issue was one of law the magistratus decided it But in enforcing the rights of parties issues of facts often arose, and it would become necessary that these facts should be inquired into, the evidence on same received, weighed, and conclusions formed thereon, and the real merits of the case decided before the law could apply The suit was therefore referred to a judex chosen by the parties to the action from amongst their fellow citizens, who decided the case as submitted

The formula which accompanied the reference to the judex corresponds somewhat with the charges of our judges to the jurors without however the privilege of bills of exception, as in use among us, in case the formula of their charge or reference was wrong, either through the ignorance or corruption of the magistratus, yet all their proceedings were as open as the light of day In these and other respects we can witness on a comparative view of the two great channels of jurisprudence, in which flow the civil and the common law the progressive wisdom of successive ages until it could be truly said by the illustrious Coke, that it was an honor that by the common law cases of great difficulty are never adjudged in secret, or with a silent suppression of the reasons therefor, but in open court first at the bar by counsel learned of either party, afterwards by the bench delivering at large the authorities, reasons and causes of their judgment, an honorable proceeding in law and a grateful satisfaction to the parties

With the Romans there were two great central principles Aside from division of questions of law from those of fact, there was the principle of oral and public pleadings and the privilege of discussion thereon These principles also characterized the Anglo Saxon system, and do yet to-day, with the modification that oral pleadings have given way to those which are written which change occurred about the time of Henry III or that of Edward III

But to recur more particularly to the system, we find it to be noteworthy that during this epoch of Roman history when this system was being perfected, most of the fundamental rules for the regulation of private rights, and the common pursuits of the people were introduced as law The original system of the Republican era applied to Romans exclusively, but as civilization advanced, there was such an inroad of foreigners that they were finally looked upon as a distinct class and by the law a board, consisting of three or five members was designated to act as judices in cases where their interests were involved, and in the progress of time this system became so universal that it included many other cases So advantageous was this method that great good resulted Aside from its general spread over the nation it led to express stipulations in all the treaties made by Rome, and other countries, that similar tribunals should be constituted for the determination of controversies between Romans and the inhabitants of the several nations treated with but a deeper significance is drawn by a learned English writer as through their liberal form of administering justice, between Romans and aliens a practical acquaintance with the laws of foreign states was acquired and the rules common to all nations, and universally accepted as standards of right and justice were enforced and thereupon resulted the embodiment of the initial principles of what is known as the law of nations

The term jus was applied to the law when pronounced by the magistratus and when the judex had examined the contested facts the result was designated by the term judicium

Such are a few of the brief outlines that we are enabled to perceive through the dim vista of the long intervening time of the past

Such was the system overthrown by imperial authority [illegible] was inimical to the great and powerful [illegible] tendencies of despotism

The final result of the change was, that while under the republic the courts were open to the citizens of Rome in civil and criminal matters as they should ever be yet under the empire, the open courts disappeared, and that the sway of despotism might be more strict [illegible] appeal was in every case given to the Emperor in person This right of appeal taken in connection with the absolute power over law lodged in the hands of the imperial [illegible] confirmed and perpetuated the system of absolutism even over [illegible]

BRISTOW'S LIFE

[From the Louisville Riverside Weekly]

Benjamin Helm Bristow was born in Elkton Todd county, Kentucky, in the month of July 1832, and was the second of a family of four children His father Francis M Bristow was widely known throughout the State as a lawyer of ability and the leading mind of his section In 1860–61 he represented the third district of Kentucky in Congress of the United States and held offices of responsibility and honor at various times He was a member of the constitutional convention in 1850 which framed the State Constitution He died during the war His mother who is now in Elkton, was Emily Helm daughter of Benjamin Helm of Elizabethtown Ky His two sisters Mrs Petree and Mrs Gill, and his brother, Frank Bristow, also reside in Elkton

At an early age after receiving a preliminary education in his native place, Benjamin entered Jefferson College at Cannonsburg Pennsylvania, and went diligently through the course of study there afforded His ability as a debater gained for him some admiration among his classmates, otherwise there was nothing in his college career deserving special mention

On leaving college in 1848 he entered the law office of his father at Elkton, and continued the study and practice of law with his father until 1857 when he removed to Hopkinsville, Christian county where in partnership with Judge R T Petree, he pursued his profession with reasonable success until the breaking out of the war, very soon after which he entered the United States service as Lieut Colonel of the 25th Kentucky regiment, commanded by Col Shackleford, and distinguished himself for coolness and bravery at the battles of Fort Henry, Fort Donelson and Pittsburg Landing (Shiloh).

Returning home in 1862 he was active in raising the 8th Kentucky Cavalry, with which he again entered the service as Lieutenant-Colonel, and was soon made Colonel This regiment was in many memorable battles and was with that portion of the army which effected the capture of the celebrated Confederate raider, Gen John Morgan

IN THE STATE SENATE

In the fall of 1863 he was elected to the State Senate from the Hopkinsville district of Kentucky. He was on the committee on military affairs, and stood by the Union, in those stormy times of 1863-4-5 when he resigned his seat and located in Louisville to practice his profession

In 1866 he was appointed Assistant United States District Attorney for Kentucky, and about a year thereafter succeeded Joshua Tevis, Esq, as District Attorney This office he held at a time when nothing but the most unflinching courage would have sustained an officer of the United States in the prosecution of many cases, growing out of the threatened conflict of State with Federal authority

In the winter of 1874 Col Bristow was nominated for Attorney General of the United States, to succeed Attorney General Williams, who was nominated for Chief Justice. But the nomination of Williams not having been confirmed, Col. Bristow did not take his seat

SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY

In June, 1874, after the office of Secretary of the Treasury had been made vacant by the resignation of Secretary Richardson, the country was surprised by the appointment of Col Bristow to this important place in the Cabinet From this date, however, he has, without doubt, been one of the most prominent men in the country

AMERICAN HORSES IN ENGLAND

The London Sportsman's commissioner at Newmarket writing under date of January 24th says of Mr Sanford's horses The American horses I noticed at walking exercise on the Moulton road led by the aged Preakness The latter is quite sound on his limbs and there is a useful look about him, but I fear he is no match for those of our horses that will compete with him during the coming season When I say that I fear Preakness will succumb to the best of our horses let me not appear to be unpatriotic The real Americans and their horses all spring from our own stock, and are fully entitled to share with us the profits we derive from our common pastimes. Indeed, we ought to encourage international racing even more than we do, in order to ascertain whether we are advancing or receding in the science of breeding and training. I am sure that no real sportsman in England would regret the presence of American horses in this country, if even they were to win the Derby and one or two of our best racing cups Mr Sanford the owner of the eight animals at Newmarket and his trainer, Charley Littlefield are no strangers, and I am quite certain that owners, trainers, and writers on the sporting press, will treat them and their horses as a part and parcel of our own racing system while they remain in England Bay Eagle, the American representative for the Epsom Derby, is a remarkably fine horse He is a bay with two white hind heels and stands fully sixteen hands, with power and length in proportion to his hight Donna, a two year old filly, is also a promising sort, with size and symmetry, in her favor In fact there is not a mean looking animal in the lot, but having of course been indulged since being unshipped after so long a voyage, they now carry a lot of flesh and when this gives place to good, hard muscle, induced by strong work, we shall be able to form a more correct opinion of their make, shape, and action when extended Meanwhile it would be well for speculators not to hold the American horses too cheaply for their English engagements"

A Ballet Girl Burnt at the Stake —An inquest has been held at Sheffield on the body of the poor ballet girl Alma Oldale, who met her death under the wretchedest circumstances through a fire which occurred during the performance of a pantomime at the Sheffield theater on the 18th of December last The unfortunate deceased was only eighteen years of age, and was engaged to enact the part of an 'extra,' or "flying lady" in the transformation scene of the pantomime She was suspended from the 'flies' standing on a piece of iron, and strapped to an iron rod at her back The gauze curtains at the wing, from some unknown cause caught fire and were blown by a current of cold air toward the deceased her muslin skirts—she had on besides only a single garment—were at once enveloped in flames and it was stated at the inquest that two minutes elapsed before she could be lowered to the stage Being strapped to the iron rod, she was of course utterly powerless and between such a fate and being burnt alive at the stake we are unable to discern any material difference Alma Oldale appears to have undergone the process of roasting with remarkable courage but her nervous system was entirely shattered by the shock she had sustained, and after lingering a few days the poor creature died London Telegraph Jan 15

Stock Gambling —To illustrate the extent to which this gambling mania affects all classes of people I will relate a little incident which came under my own observation I was dining at the Palace Hotel The waiter placed a plate of soup in front of the gentleman opposite me a prominent stock broker whom we will call Smith As he put down the plate the waiter remarked

What do you think of Nevada Mr Smith?

'Well I think they are a good purchase at $20 and Mr Smith

I se got ten shares dat cost me 18 said the darkey ' and I guess you may sell them for me in the morning Fish sah

Yes bring me some sea bass

The fish was brought and the conversation continued

What do you think of Ophir sah?

'Well I don't think it will go much high er They run it up to 15 to 1[illegible]

"I'se got 15 shares of dem dat I held a good while I bought em in at 15 I guess you can sell dose too "

And so it went on through the entire dinner With each course was an order to buy or sell some stock The fellow had invested his little savings in margins on trades, and cleaned up nearly $2 000 as the result of his operations.—S F Cor Philadelphia Bulletin

AN EXAMPLE OF CHEEK

The following, which displays too much cheek for belief, is from a Washington correspondence of the Pittsburg Leader.

An amusing incident of the victory of business over the tenderer sentiments of man was brought to my notice the other day. During the latter years of the war, Col. Mosby, the celebrated Confederate trooper, while scouting near Charleston, in West Virginia, with a small detachment of his men, saw from the woods a small party of Northern cavalry about four hundred yards distant. Placing his men in ambuscade with directions to surround and attack the Federal troops in the rear when the proper time arrived, Mosby rode from the cover of the woods to a hillock in the level field, where the enemy could see him—for such was the manner and custom of scout attacks in those days. The Federal horsemen catching sight of the Confederate, at once rode down toward him at full speed, and one of the number, whose animal was of better stock than his comrades, soon [illegible] the others, and shortened the distance bet[illegible] himself and the Southerner considerably. As he came within about forty yards he [illegible] firing, and Mosby then attempted to draw his revolver, but his mare had been wounded some months before, and scared by the [illegible] of firearms, pitched and reared in a manner that required all the skill of its rider to keep on its back without allowing a m[illegible] side show in the way of returning his opponent's fire. The other rode close to him, and discharged every chamber of his [illegible] ineffectually, however—before the Confederate command surprised and captured the squadron from the rear, and before he was [illegible] captured. Imagine Mosby's surprise [illegible] after the affair was over, and he was pr[illegible] to return with the prisoners, his special antagonist approached him and [illegible] a sanitary officer's uniform, demanded immediate release on the ground that he was a non-combatant. This was refused, and he grew abusive, and most coolly import[illegible] until quieted down with an admon[illegible] vice to "cheese" it or have a tin ear [illegible] him, or words to that effect. So he [illegible] the others—and he was the most [illegible] combative of the lot—and was [illegible] into prison.

A day or two ago, as Mosby—now [illegible] in Washington and intimate friend of [illegible] —was sitting in his office, a [illegible] tered, asked him if he recollected the [illegible] recited occurrence, and, receiving an affirmative answer, introduced himself as the hero of that day, and asked Mosby's advice and assistance in a little matter he had be[illegible] Congress on the affair.

Failing to receive any recompense [illegible] tary official, he had entered a [illegible] Congress petitioning for financial [illegible] remuneration for gallant duty as a [illegible] and citing, as a specific example, his [illegible] cedented and meritorious conduct in [illegible] and almost killing the famous part[illegible] tain Mosby, which he would have [illegible] for the plunging and pitching of his [illegible] Mosby's) horse." And now he [illegible] stipend, and wanted Mosby to app[illegible] ness before the committee and put in a [illegible] word for him, as he was hard up.

Being promised the heartiest support [illegible] way of testimony for his gallantry by his [illegible] antagonist, he departed in good [illegible] with a pleasant expectation of [illegible] results.

THE TERRITORIES.

The South Mountain Gold and [illegible] ing Company, whose works are [illegible] Idaho, have gone into bankruptcy.

A letter from Alturas, Idaho, says: [illegible] snow is well settled now, and is [illegible] deep. Placer miners are in hop[illegible] season for water."

The Bozeman (Montana) Times [illegible] know "the meaning of scraping the [illegible] sugar barrels, and putting others on [illegible] dead hours of night, at the Fort P[illegible] agency.

A meeting of business men of Lar[illegible] City was held recently for the purpose of d[illegible] ways and means for the co[illegible] wagon road from that city to the [illegible] gold districts.

The dirtiest man in Montana is [illegible] $100,000. Ten years ago, when he [illegible] a candid stranger said to him: "Well, [illegible] at you, I shouldn't think you ever [illegible] "No," replied the miser, "I saved up [illegible] estate."

THOSE PATIENT LEADERS

The Washington correspondent of the New York Herald thinks Speaker Kerr and other leaders of the Democracy in Congress, are gaining strength every day He says "These men have courage and patience, and they know that the session must be a long one. They are not in a hurry, nor are they much alarmed about small blunders It looks as though they would get control by and by We should say they are not in a hurry surely The session must be a long one indeed if it is to be long enough for them to retrieve the ground they have lost by the small blunders" thus far committed But their "small blunders," bad as they are are not the worst thing they have to get over The large blunder of failing to do any thing, or to propose anything in the way of the great reforms they promised the country, is the chief trouble The country has waited, not without some manifestations of impatience to see what the Democratic majority proposed to do with the great questions that press upon them and they have waited in vain The finances of the nation, which were to be straightened out in a trice, are just where they were when Congress met, except that there have been one or two feeble and crude attempts to undo what ever has been done by the Republicans with a view to a return to specie payments Last fall the atmosphere was full of the din of Democratic denunciation of the financial policy of the Republican party Its defects and its ruinous tendencies were the theme of Democratic eloquence and the pillar of Democratic platforms. It would seem that a party that knew so well all the defects of the existing system, and were so hotly bent on taking the reins of government in order to cure these defects, ought by this time have given the country some inkling of what the remedy was to be But they have not The most vigilant eye has been unable to detect so far a single indication of the all-redeeming policy which these sublimely patient leaders of the Democracy intend to do with the disordered currency Notwithstanding the cheerful view of the Herald's correspondent, it does look as if the only virtue possessed by the heroes it so confidently leans upon, is the negative virtue of patience.

THAT GREAT PETITION OF UTAH WOMEN.

Some time since we had occasion to notice the fact that a petition had been presented to the Senate of the United States to which were appended the signatures of more than 22,000 women of Utah, praying Congress, among other things, to repeal the laws against polygamy in that Territory, on the ground that that institution was a part of the religion of the Mormon sect, and therefore any restrictive legislation was an invasion of the right of the people to worship God according to the dictates of their own conscience. That such a petition should have been signed by such a number of women appeared very remarkable. That a few, or even a few hundred, might be found in the Territory whose natures had become sufficiently perverted to make them the instruments in the hands of the apostles, to the extent even of signing such an unnatural request seemed possible; but when it came to setting the number thus brutalized at 22,000—nearly all the women in the Territory, the thing seemed incredible. It turns out that the petition was a cold-blooded fraud. We are reliably informed, by a gentleman who was in Utah at the time these signatures were obtained, that the women of Utah signed no such petition Agents were sent to canvass every district, each with a blank paper, to which the signatures of the women were requested These canvassers represented that the signatures were to be appended to a petition of an entirely different character. Some were told it was a petition with regard to the liquor traffic, some that it was a petition to allow women certain rights of property, others were induced by a story about some local matter in which they were supposed to feel an interest Every district was canvassed upon what was deemed the representation most likely to gain signatures. And then, when all the signatures were secured, they were appended to the infamous petition for the protection of the system by which woman is degraded to the position of a slave and a concubine, and the batch of falsehoods was sent off to Congress Some of the signers are Gentiles, and a vast majority of them are openly hostile to the practice of polygamy The indignation of those imposed upon is unconcealed, and it is said the fraud is reacting in the way of dividing people of Mormon education with the elders and apostles who perpetrated it.

THE SCHOOL FUND LOANS

Some time ago it was publicly charged that large amounts of the irreducible school fund of the State had been loaned upon security wholly inadequate There are several transactions of that sort which deserve attention The loan of $10 000 on grossly inadequate security in Salem has never yet been explained by the board. Neither has the loan of a smaller amount without any security at all Neither has the loan of about $10,000 upon some of the mountains back of Portland which are not worth half the loan Neither has the Baker City academy loan —though in some respects the responsibility for this transaction we are informed, is a little different from that in the others Will the Governor please explain these transactions to the people whose money is thus scattered to the winds? His attention has been called to it several times and as yet no explanation has been vouchsafed The time is approaching when the people will begin to demand the explanation with greater urgency than heretofore, as their action on the first Monday of June may depend on the information they shall receive between now and then as to the manner in which the trusts they have committed to His Excellency have been discharged. He will hardly be allowed to reach that eventful day without giving an account of his stewardship

GENERAL PILLOW

There is something extremely touching in the letter of General Pillow published in the New York papers of the 1st instant concerning his bankruptcy In all my eventful life he says I have stood up with a stout heart and manfully combatted against trials and have tried to meet the duties and responsibilities of life Chiefest among these I hold the duties and responsibilities of patriotism How I have met them the country knows I trust I will be pardoned for saying I loved the national government to whose service I had devoted the prime of my life—that I would I had fallen in the service died while I was honored with its confidence and its commission Standing as I now do between its aggressive acts and its displeasure and the neglect and ingratitude of the people I subsequently took up arms I am without hope for the future To be homeless—with a family famished —with gaunt poverty staring me in the face, at my advanced age—presents prospects so gloomy that heart gives way and the conclusion is forced upon me that I have lived too long" It is not in the human breast to read unmoved this despairing cry from the old soldier whose name is honorably connected with some of the most splendid pages in the story of American valor It is an appeal for sympathy which seems rather to gain than lose force by the circumstances that have brought him down from the position of dignity and honor he once occupied to that of one who feels that he is cast out of the communion of his countrymen, and is without hope in the world But yet the facts of history place him not unjustly where he stands to-day Let it be said he thought he was right in taking arms against the government that had showered its favors upon him still he had enjoyed too much of its confidence and received too much of its benefactions, to leave it an easy task for him to justify himself in the eyes of mankind in holding his allegiance so lightly that a breath of anger at what he considered an unwarranted course in its dealings with its citizens, could sweep him into the abyss of rebellion True, he has "lived too long" for his peace of mind but the fault is all his own He is not a martyr The bed of thorns on which he lies is of his own making. Humanity will never allow him or his family to come to want, as he seems to fear, but more than protection against want he cannot claim at the hands of his countrymen—the countrymen of a country he voluntarily repudiated and endeavored to destroy.

STOP THAT LEAK

Attention has been called time and again to the leak in the State Treasury, caused by the improvident legislation with regard to the State printing The rates are too high, even upon the schedule fixed by the last legislature They should be reduced at least 25 per cent more But the reduction made by the last legislature can not take effect till after the expiration of the term of the present incumbent of the office of State Printer A provision of the Constitution stands in the way The same will be true of any further reduction that may be made at the next session But the matter should not be allowed to go unattended to for that reason In fact, this provision of the Constitution furnishes a strong argument for prompt and thorough action on the subject For if it is passed by till the next session, the same constitutional provision will fasten the abuse on the people for another four years. It must be cut off in advance or not at all

But there is one branch of this leak that can be stopped at once as has been stated by our correspondents The amount of work to be done can be cut down to take effect at once This should be done by all means There is a vast amount of public printing done that is unnecessary While the rates are so high no more should be authorized than is demanded by absolute necessity If we pay two prices for the work done, economy requires that the amount should be reduced to the minimum of actual need In these times, when the people find it indispensable to reduce their private expenses in every way possible, the public expenses should be correspondingly reduced If there is any time when extravagance is excusable that time certainly is not when business is dull and every person is employing his wits to devise ways to bring his expenditures within the limits of a scanty income The taxpayers have a right to expect retrenchment in the public service wherever retrenchment is possible Let this subject not be forgotten in the selection of members of the legislature

The Standard thinks the OREGONIAN does not take kindly to the proposition to nominate U S Senators the same as other State officers The Standard we take it has not read the OREGONIAN of late or else is not disposed to state the matter fairly The OREGONIAN is opposed to the whole system of caucus jobbery in the legislature and is of opinion that one way to put a stop to that mischievous Democratic device is for the State convention to name the candidate of the party for the U S Senate and leave it to the people to say whether by electing the candidates of that party they want that person for Senator The plan is not without imperfections but in the choice of evils we believe it would be less bad than the present corrupting and debauching method And in this view the OREGONIAN is by no means alone The State Journal the oldest Republican paper in the interior of the State has given the proposition its unqualified endorsement and when it came up in the State Central Committee it was defeated by only two majority the vote standing as follows

A CARD.

TO THE BUSINESS GENTLEMEN AND OTHers of Front street who kindly endorsed me in connection with Walter Moffett of saloon notoriety to the Underwriters of San Francisco I beg to say the Notice appearing in this morning's Oregonian signed Walter Moffett cautioning the public against trusting me on his account, is an unwarranted libel and unjust reflection That no individual credit to the liability of Moffett or Moffett & McDonald has been sought or desired and in justice to myself and others who may feel themselves interested through business or otherwise that the existing written contract and business of Moffett & McDonald will be made public in all its bearings that all may know where the burden of right or wrong rests. Very respectfully,

PLUMMER FRUIT DRYER.

AS A PROOF OF WHAT I HAVE HERETOFORE stated to the people of Oregon I give below a letter from the Plummer Fruit Drying Co of East Portland After the close of business of 1875 fully endorsing it after using it one entire season and as a proof to substantiate what they say they now contemplate putting up another Dryer of the same capacity of the one they now have which will increase their capacity to five hundred bushels of apples per day Having now located here in Portland for the purpose of supplying the demand for Fruit Dryers in Oregon and Washington Territory I can supply these dryers at a cost of from $1 000 to $[illegible] according to capacity Warranted to dry from [illegible] bushels of apples per hour at a small cost for labor and fuel These machines being so cheap and simple in construction they cannot fail to supersede all other known machines I would also say to the fruit growers that I have invented a Machine and am now waiting for a patent, that will cut and spread the fruit on the trays with a very small amount of labor I also have invented a Peach Parer that is an entirely new principle paring soft as well as hard does its work well with great speed and slices and pits the fruit ready for the Dryer in the best possible manner, and at a great saving in quantity of fruit.

Having become somewhat acquainted with the wants of the people I find that a cheap DRYER is what is wanted and one that will do good work and a large amount of it I have so modified my Dryer as to meet that demand and can now guarantee my CHEAP DRYER to do as good work as any and as large an amount of it and the price is within the reach of all

FRUIT DRYER TESTIMONIALS.

EAST PORTLAND, Jan 4th 1876

MR W S PLUMMER—Dear Sir As this is a time when all are much interested in Fruit Drying, we think that in justice to you and for the information of the public it is but right and proper that we should give all the information that we can Now after having operated your Dryer during this season we feel warranted in saying that for the amount of money invested we still believe as we did from the start that your Dryer is the best Dryer yet introduced into this country The capacity of the Dryer we find to be about 8 (eight) bushels per hour The Dried fruit we claim to be as good as any though perhaps not as much bleached as the "Alden" Fruit and we are satisfied that we can produce Dried Fruit at less expense than the Alden." The stockholders of our Company manifested their confidence in the Plummer Dryer at our meeting last Saturday by a unanimous vote to increase the capital stock $12 000 (twelve thousand dollars) for the purpose of adding one more Dryer to the present one and making other improvements for next season We will further say that we believe that by an improvement made by the patentee in the Heater and fan that there will be an increase of capacity and a saving of fuel
H HANSON, President,
J S NEWELL Secretary and Superintendent

EAST PORTLAND Dec 18 1875

MR PLUMMER—Dear Sir I have been watching both the Alden and your Fruit Dryer the past season as I was to determine which was the best Machine for drying Prunes I visited the Alden Dryer at Oregon City and examined the Prunes dried on that Machine and I have also examined several lots dried on your Machine at East Portland and my opinion is that your Dryer is far the best Machine for drying Prunes My reasons are these Your Machine dries them without bursting or cracking while I noticed that a great deal of the fruit dried on the Alden Machine was bursted open and after a Prune is bursted in drying it is worthless in market as a Prune therefore I can recommend your Machine for drying Prunes or any thing else. Yours truly

CITY.

DIED AT THE HOSPITAL —Thursday after[illegible] an old man named Wm Southey was [illegible] to Good Samaritan Hospital by order of the attending physician Dr C C Strong and died at that institution Friday morning [illegible] o'clock Southey has lived at the Cas[illegible] for several years He came down a few [illegible] ago to place himself under a course of medical treatment as he had been suffering a long time with valvular disease of the heart Dr Strong, after making an examination ad[illegible] him to go to the Hospital for treatment He had only been there a little over twelve hours when death ensued This we believe is the first death which has taken place at the institution since it was opened Coroner Wet[illegible] was notified and an inquest was held [illegible] following is the verdict

We the jury empaneled and sworn by J A [illegible] coroner of Multnomah county this [illegible] day of March to inquire into the cause of death of the body now lying before us do find that his name is William Southey aged about 41 years, and that he came to his death from heart disease at Good Samaritan hospital in this county J P Foster (foreman) H. Marvin, S C Ritchey Henry Stutzel [illegible] Taylor R J Walker

So far as is known deceased had no friends or relations in this State He died in very [illegible] circumstances, and will be buried at the [illegible] of the county The funeral will take place this morning from the undertaker's

PRESENTATIONS —Last Thursday evening at the regular monthly meeting of Multnomah [illegible] Co No 2, Mr H D Sanborn was the recipient of an elegant gold watch chain at the hands of the company as a testimonial of the high regard in which he is held as a fireman and gentleman Mr T B Trevett the foreman of the company, made the presentation, which was done in that gentle[illegible] and most fitting manner Na[illegible] and the surprise of the recipient [illegible] him, but recovering himself [illegible] managed to find language in which to return his earnest thanks for the present. Prior to the above pleas[illegible] two beautiful gold badges appro[illegible]ibed, were presented to George [illegible] and Henry Lemlein for valuable assist[illegible] getting the apparatus promptly to the [illegible]

FIRE ALARM —Box No. 13 sounded an alarm last evening about 7 o'clock, bringing out the department in quick order The alarm was occasioned by seeing smoke issue from the second story of the brick building on Front street occupied by J. B. Congle, saddle and harness maker. It was discovered to be the universal "defective flue, which had become choked, and thus driven the soot and flames out at the point where the stove pipe enters the flue Promptness saved the fortunes of the day" A few buckets of water quenched the incipient conflagration and prevented any damage worthy of mention. Every engine was at the scene and ready for service, but none were brought into action It was a case of scare, but no fire.

CONTINENTAL BALL.—On Friday evening of next week the grand ball to be given by the [illegible] of the G. A. R. will take place at [illegible] Hall, in this city. A large number of the members of the post and guests will be dressed in the old Continental uniform, though such a dress is not absolutely required. A number of officers from Vancouver will also [illegible] in the uniform of the present day, showing the difference between then and now. Added to all the attractions of the balls usually given by this popular organization, the forthcoming party will have several other novel and interesting features

NEW STEAMSHIPS —The Evening Journal is responsible for the following "After re[illegible] to that effect for a year or two past, we have it at last, on undoubted authority, that three first-class steamships will shortly be placed on the Portland and San Francisco route by the O. S. S. Co These vessels have been only recently built, and for speed, freight, passenger accommodation and seaworthiness are vastly superior to those at present in use on this route. The first steamship of the new fleet will leave New York for this port about the 1st of April next"

LECTURE.—This (Saturday) evening Gen O O Howard will deliver a lecture at Good Templar Hall under the auspices of Multnomah Lodge, I. O. G. T. The Amphion Club have [illegible] will furnish some excellent vocal music. Next Tuesday evening by re[illegible] Portland Lodge, I. O. G. T., Mr [illegible] of this city, will deliver a temperance [illegible] in the Good Templar hall in [illegible]

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH.—The ladies of St. Luke's [illegible] Vancouver, are active in raising funds for the work of the Church in that village. The new edifice has recently been ceiled in the interior and made very comfortable for use. Every evening of this week a concert and tableaux were given to raise funds for the [illegible] of their work. The amount realized was over $60.

WEATHER REPORT.—From the records of the U. S. Signal Station of Observation, Portland [illegible], March 3, 1876:

	7 A. M.	2 P M.	9 P M

[illegible]—The Liberal Association will [illegible] at Good Templar Hall Sun[illegible] M. Question Resolved, That Rational[illegible]istic Pantheism is inconsistent with the discoveries of science and contrary to [illegible] experience. The affirmative will be [illegible] by an address of 40 minutes by [illegible] L. Holmes. All are invited.

PORTLAND TURN VEREIN.—At a meeting of [illegible] held on Thursday evening it was [illegible] to hold a masquerade on the 22d inst, to which the members and such friends as may be invited will attend Several new [illegible] were added, and the membership now exceeds one hundred and thirty A new [illegible] is talked of.

[illegible] ENTERTAINMENTS —The ladies of the First Congregational Church have planned a series of four excellent entertainments at popular prices, to follow each other at intervals of a few weeks The first musical in its [illegible], will be given at the church on next Friday evening Programme will be published in due time.

NEW FIRM.—The spacious rooms on Front [illegible] near Washington formerly occupied by the Oregon Furniture Manufacturing Co are being fitted up for occupancy by Huxter & [illegible], who will shortly open a stock of tin[illegible], stoves and plumbers goods, besides en[illegible] extensively in the manufacture of tinware

S. S. CONCERT —Sunday evening a concert will take place at Lee's Chapel, near East Portland. An interesting and profitable programme has been prepared J F Caples [illegible], will deliver an address

BRIEF NOTES.

Some rash boys were to be seen yesterday indulging in a game of marbles

The city parks are turning green, and wandering kine turn thither their longing optics

An Eastern paper says Oregon mails go by snow shoe express The manner of carrying the Eastern mails isn't much improvement on that

All the flags were flying yesterday at half mast over the several engine houses of the city in respect to the memory of the late Jos Reilly

As usual in dark and cloudy weather there is no moon these nights, but it hangs out a dirty complexion in the morning when decent people are in bed and asleep

The gloom of yesterday was flecked with an occasional stray streak of sunshine The weather clerk was very clever in dealing out sandwiches—two rains to one sunshine

Wednesday and Thursday we were led to fancy that old winter's spinal column was fractured; but alas for human hopes, the March lion showed his teeth yesterday

A habitual croaker was heard to declare yesterday that there has been rain enough this winter to soak the earth through and through so that the muddy water and watery mud must be dripping constantly on the people of China.

CASCADES NOTES.

Our regular correspondent writes as follows from the above place under date of the 2d

The majestic Columbia is slowly rising.

A grand ball is on the tapis for St Patrick's day

The OREGONIAN is the only paper that arrives regular, and that does not come by mail

Quite a delay was occasioned by the cars last Thursday, as a large rock was down on the track at the summit.

The Indians of this place held a grand meeting last Tuesday at which they gave thanks to the Hyas Sahale Tyee These meetings are only held once in five years

It is said by some of our most expert nimrods, that there abound more game of all kinds in this section of the country this season, than has been for years before

The weather for the past few weeks has been anything but agreeable Rain has been descending in torrents continually, and even snow was not ashamed to show its white mantle a few days ago Some of the old residents say that there has been more rain this year than they have ever seen here before.

THE TURF.

The Walla Walla Union says There is a good deal of talk about getting up some races about the Fourth of July, to come off over Bush's track Mr Bush is willing to do his share, and if those who feel an interest in the matter will come forward and do their part, the thing can be arranged to the satisfaction of all, no doubt. Our neighbors of Eastern Oregon and those of Northern Idaho appear to look to this as being the most suitable and central location that could be found in order to accommodate this whole section of country And if matters can be so arranged as to hang some good purses there will doubtless be a larger gathering of people here at that time than has ever been brought together in Walla Walla By offering a good purse it may be that Foster the winner of the great $30 000 race could be induced to come and go against Osceola in a two mile race

DIED OF APOPLEXY.

JOS F REILLY FOUND DEAD IN HIS OFFICE

Friday morning about 7 o'clock Mr Jos F Reilly Justice of the Peace for North Portland Precinct was found dead in his office on Stark street near First Wm Waters a colored porter had been engaged for some time to clean out the office and adjoining bed chamber of deceased and on unlocking the door yesterday morning at the hour mentioned and entering the room he was horrified to observe the lifeless body of Mr Reilly lying on the floor When found the body was lying flat on the floor near the stove straightened at full length the head resting on the left side of the face the hands clasped under the waist Waters gave the alarm without delay and soon a crowd had collected Mr Reilly had been in apparently in good health for several days preceding his sudden death, and the news came like a thunder stroke to his friends Thursday evening he was present at the regular meeting of Multnomah Engine Co No 2 of which company he was a member and was not complaining

From every indication it appears that he had retired to his bed the sleeping apartment is just back of the office—and afterward became sick and threw up in a bucket which was standing at the head of the bed He then arose and came into the office probably to get a drink of water or call for assistance when he fell to the floor Deceased probably died from apoplexy, as he had had two attacks of that disease previously In falling he struck one side of his head against the stove and bruised his forehead He was seized probably about 11 o'clock Thursday evening As Coroner Wetmore was not in the city at the time, Justice Bybee was called and proceeded to summon a jury and hold an inquest Dr A D Ellis was called and after making an examination of the body made the following statement

I do hereby certify that I have attended deceased Joseph Reilley, for the past two years, and that he was suffering from valvular disease of the heart and, from the nature of said disease deceased was liable to die at any moment and that the wound found on the left side of the forehead was probably caused by his falling against the end of the stove, and that his death was the result of natural causes

After hearing all the evidence, the jury returned the following verdict

We the jury duly summoned to appear and sworn to inquire into the manner and cause of the death of Joseph Reilly, Esq., after hearing the testimony of the witnesses examined in the above matter and the testimony of Dr A D Ellis find that deceased was a native of Ireland, about 38 years old, and came to his death from valvular disease of the heart on the 2d day of March 1876 William Mulcahy Josiah Green, John Corby, J J Winters, S Hood William Gremmy

Mr Reilly came to this city in 1865 and has resided here at intervals since He was a member of the Portland Hibernian Benevolent Society and Multnomah Co No 2 His mother and wife reside in Santa Clara, California The funeral will take place this afternoon.

IN MEMORIAM.

HALL OF MULTNOMAH FIRE ENGINE CO NO 2
PORTLAND March 3 1876

At a special meeting of Multnomah Fire Engine Co No 2, held this evening the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted

WHEREAS The hand of death has been laid upon our worthy and well respected brother, Joseph Reilly therefore

Resolved That while bowing in sorrow to our sad affliction, we deeply mourn the loss of a true friend, a generous companion and a member ever prompt and faithful in the discharge of duty

Resolved, That as a mark of respect this Company attend in a body at the funeral of deceased, and that the engine house be draped in mourning for the period of thirty days,

Further resolved, That these resolutions be entered on the record of this Company that a copy be furnished to his afflicted relatives and published in the daily papers of this city

CIRCULAR LETTER.

The following circular letter addressed "to whom it may concern," has been issued by General Howard under date of January 8th

For the information of persons who may have settled upon the islands in the Haro Archipelago whose claims or residences are embraced within the limits of the several government reservations described in general orders No [illegible] of December [illegible] 1875 from these headquarters it is announced that settlement upon the public lands of the United States, no matter how long continued confers no rights as against the government The title to the land is still in the United States and the government can make use of it for any purpose it sees fit

It is further announced under instructions from the War Department that it is not intended to cause hastily removal of the squatters resident upon these reservations January 1 18[illegible] is the date fixed within which period they may remove [illegible] and when they remove they will be permitted also to remove the buildings &c belonging to them and now erected

Any improvements they may make after [illegible] to this date will belong to the United States

Hereafter no squatters or citizens will be permitted to enter and reside upon these reservations

Department commanders will exercise a general supervision of all military reservations within the limits of their commands, and will use force to remove squatters or trespassers when in their judgment it becomes necessary (G O No [illegible] Hd Qrs of the Army, November [illegible] 1867)

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

A Republican State Convention is hereby called to convene in the city of Portland Wednesday May [illegible] 1876 at 11 o clock A M to select six delegates to the National Republican Convention candidates for judges of the supreme court in the second third and fifth judicial districts, for prosecuting attorneys for the several judicial districts three presidential electors and a candidate for representative in congress, and for the transaction of such other business as may come before the convention

It is recommended that primary and county conventions in the several counties be held as follows Primary conventions on Wednesday April 19th, and county conventions on Wednesday April 26th, or at such other times as the county committees may appoint

The following is the apportionment of delegates in the said convention upon the basis of the Republican vote for representative in congress in 1875

Baker	3	Linn	10
Benton	[illegible]	Marion	13
Clackamas	6	Multnomah	13
Clatsop	1	Polk	4
Columbia	1	Tillamook	2
Coos	[illegible]	Union	1
Curry	2	Umatilla	4
Douglas	7	Wasco	3
Grant	3	Washington	4
Jackson	4	Yamhill	8
Josephine	2
Lake	2	Total	115
Lane	7

In making this call for a Republican State Convention, the State Central Committee realize the fact that too much importance cannot be attached to preliminary operations This being a government of the people by the people for the people the agents or officers of the government should be in accord with the people According to the general accepted plan of selecting candidates, the first steps are taken in our primary county and State conventions These form the ground work of political organization upon which the whole superstructure must stand or fall If honest men desire honest officials is it asking too much that they lay aside for a day all other business affairs and devote the time necessary to select proper persons to attend county and State conventions?

In view of these considerations and of the important interests at stake we earnestly appeal to all legal voters who are in sympathy with the principles of the Republican party regardless of personal likes and dislikes to rally at the primaries and see to it that none but true men are entrusted with the business of preparing for the coming political campaign Select men who are not only true themselves in the broadest sense of that term but men of discernment men who can and will choose wisely for the good of the people in defiance of "rings" and cliques"

It is unnecessary at this time to reiterate in this call the principles of the Republican party its glorious record is still fresh in the memory of an enlightened public it is sound upon all the great principles affecting our national existence it is the party of progress and development it exposes corruption wherever found and inflicts punishment upon conspirators fearful and sudden, without respect of person or position it favors the universal enlightenment of the people without trammel of creed or ism and its banner is found in the van leading on the hosts of reformers in all that tends to higher civilization and enlarged freedom

The Early Stages of Disease.
Those conditions of the body in which its functions are not performed with healthful activity but sluggishly and irregularly are in fact the early stages of disease They are moreover almost invariably the result of local or general weakness, which can only be permanently overcome by an efficient tonic There is no medical fact more clearly established than that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are admirably adapted to infuse vigor into the enfeebled system and to restore regularity to its interrupted functions As weakness and irregularity are sure to develop into disease the Bitters by overcoming them are the means of averting far more serious evils Debility most frequently manifests itself in the organs of digestion and evacuation two important offices which vigorous performance is insured by the Bitters which also rectify weakness or irregularity of the bladder or kidneys and fortify the system against malaria

AFTER WAR PESTILENCE AND INTEMPERANCE [illegible] had the greatest destruction of human life mainly in consequence of their being systematically neglected—left to go as they come—until a simple curable affection is converted into a serious and generally fatal disease It is better to take care of a Cough or Cold from its incipiency by using promptly Dr Jayne's Expectorant a remedy thoroughly adapted to remove these complaints, and equally effective in the primary stages of Consumption, Asthma and Bronchitis

Some rash boys were to be seen yesterday indulging in a game of marbles

The city parks are turning green and wandering kine turn thither their longing optics

An Eastern paper says Oregon mails go by snow shoe express The manner of carrying the Eastern mails isn t much improvement on that

All the flags were flying yesterday at half mast over the several engine houses of the city in respect to the memory of the late Jos Reilly

As usual in dark and cloudy weather there is no moon these nights, but it hangs out a dirty complexion in the morning when decent people are in bed and asleep

The gloom of yesterday was flecked with an occasional stray streak of sunshine The weather clerk was very clever in dealing out sandwiches—two rains to one sunshine

Wednesday and Thursday we were led to fancy that old winter's spinal column was fractured; but alas for human hopes, the March lion showed his teeth yesterday

A habitual croaker was heard to declare yesterday that there has been rain enough this winter to soak the earth through and through so that the muddy water and watery mud must be dripping constantly on the people of China.

The majestic Columbia is slowly rising

A grand ball is on the tapis for St Patrick's day.

The OREGONIAN is the only paper that arrives regular, and that does not come by mail

Quite a delay was occasioned by the cars last Thursday, as a large rock was down on the track at the summit.

The Indians of this place held a grand meeting last Tuesday at which they gave thanks to the Hyas Sohile Tyee These meetings are only held once in five years.

It is said by some of our most expert nimrods, that there abound more game of all kinds in this section of the country this season, than has been for years before

The weather for the past few weeks has been anything but agreeable Rain has been descending in torrents continually, and even snow was not ashamed to show its white man tle a few days ago Some of the old residents say that there has been more rain this year than they have ever seen here before.

THE TURF.

The Walla Walla Union says There is a good deal of talk about getting up some races about the Fourth of July, to come off over Bush's track. Mr Bush is willing to do his share, and if those who feel an interest in the matter will come forward and do their part, the thing can be arranged to the satisfaction of all, no doubt. Our neighbors of Eastern Oregon and those of Northern Idaho appear to look to this as being the most suitable and central location that could be found in order to accommodate this whole section of country And if matters can be so arranged as to hang some good purses there will doubtless be a larger gathering of people here at that time than has ever been brought together in Walla Walla By offering a good purse, it may be that Foster, the winner of the great $30 000 race could be induced to come and go against Osceola in a two mile race

DIED OF APOPLEXY.

JOS J REILLY FOUND DEAD IN HIS OFFICE

Friday morning about 7 o clock, Mr Jos J Reilly, Justice of the Peace for North Portland Precinct was found dead in his office on Stark street near First Wm Waters a colored porter had been engaged for some time to clean out the office and adjoining bed chamber of deceased and on unlocking the door yesterday morning at the hour mentioned and entering the room he was horrified to observe the lifeless body of Mr Reilly lying on the floor When found the body was lying flat on the floor near the stove straight and to full length the head resting on the left side of the face the hands clasped under the waist Waters gave the alarm without delay and soon a crowd had collected Mr Reilly had been in apparently in good health for several days preceding his sudden death and the news came like a thunder stroke to his friends Thursday evening he was present at the regular meeting of Multnomah Engine Co No 2 of which company he was a member and was not complaining

From every indication it appears that he had retired to his bed—the sleeping apartment is just back of the office—and afterward became sick and threw up in a bucket which was standing at the head of the bed He then arose and came into the office probably to get a drink of water or call for assistance when he fell to the floor Deceased probably died from apoplexy, as he had had two attacks of that disease previously In falling he struck one side of his head against the stove and bruised his forehead He was seized probably about 11 o clock Thursday evening As Coroner Welmore was not in the city at the time Justice Bybee was called and proceeded to summons a jury and hold an inquest Dr A D Ellis was called and after making an examination of the body made the following statement

I do hereby certify that I have attended deceased, Joseph Reilley, for the past two years and that he was suffering from valvular disease of the heart and from the nature of said disease deceased was liable to die at any moment and that the wound found on the left side of the forehead was probably caused by his falling against the end of the stove and that his death was the result of natural causes

We, the jury duly summoned to appear and sworn to inquire into the manner and cause of the death of Joseph Reilly, Esq., after hearing the testimony of the witnesses examined in the above matter and the testimony of Dr A D Ellis find that deceased was a native of Ireland, about 38 years old and came to his death from valvular disease of the heart on the 2d day of March, 1876 William Mulcahy Josiah Green, John Corby, J J Winters, S Hood William Greaney

Mr Reilly came to this city in 1865 and has resided here at intervals since He was a member of the Portland Hibernian Benevolent Society and Multnomah Co No 2. His mother and wife reside in Santa Clara, California The funeral will take place this afternoon.

The Early Stages of Disease.

Those conditions of the body in which its functions are not performed with healthful activity but sluggishly and irregularly are in fact the early stages of disease They are moreover almost invariably the result of local or general weakness which can only be permanently overcome by an efficient tonic. There is no medical fact more clearly established than that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are admirably adapted to infuse vigor into the debilitated system and to restore regularity to its interrupted functions As weakness and irregularity are sure to develop into disease the Bitters by overcoming them are the means of averting far more serious evils Debility most frequently manifests itself in the organs of digestion and evacuation two important offices, whose vigorous performance is insured by the Bitters which also rectify weakness or irregularity of the bladder or kidneys and fortify the system against malaria

AFTER WAR PESTILENCE AND INTEMPERANCE Cold is said to the greatest destruction of human life mainly in consequence of their being systematically neglected — left to go as they come, — until a simple curable affection is converted into a serious and generally fatal disease It is better to take care of a Cough or Cold from its incipiency by using promptly Dr Jayne's Expectorant a remedy thoroughly adapted to remove these complaints and equally effective in the primary stages of Consumption, Asthma and Bronchitis

CIRCULAR LETTER.

The following circular letter addressed " to whom it may concern," has been issued by General Howard under date of January 8th

For the information of persons who may have settled upon the islands in the Haro Archipelago whose claims or residences are embraced within the limits of the several government reservations described in general orders No 31 of December 31 1875 from these headquarters it is announced that settlement upon the public lands of the United States no matter how long continued confers no rights as against the government The title to the land is still in the United States and the government can make use of it for any purpose it sees fit

It is further announced under instructions from the War Department that it is not intended to move bodily remove the squatters resident upon these reservations January 1 1878 is the date fixed within which period they may remove bodily and when they remove they will be permitted also to remove the buildings &c belonging to them and now erected

Any improvements they may make subsequent to this date will belong to the United States

Hereafter no squatters or citizens will be permitted to enter and reside upon these reservations

Department commanders will exercise a general supervision of all military reservations within the limits of their commands, and will use force to remove squatters or trespassers when in their judgment it becomes necessary (G O No 24 H Q Qrs of the Army, November 7 1867)

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

A Republican State Convention is hereby called to convene in the city of Portland Wednesday May 3d 1876 at 11 o clock A M to select six delegates to the National Republican Convention, candidates for judges of the supreme court in the second third and fifth judicial districts, for prosecuting attorneys for the several judicial districts three presidential electors and a candidate for representative in congress, and for the transaction of such other business as may come before the convention

It is recommended that primary and county conventions in the several counties be held as follows Primary conventions on Wednesday April 19th, and county conventions on Wednesday April 26th or at such other times as the county committees may appoint

The following is the apportionment of delegates in the said convention upon the basis of the Republican vote for representative in congress in 1875

Baker	3	Linn	10
Benton	6	Marion	19
Clackamas	6	Multnomah	13
Clatsop	3	Polk	4
Columbia	1	Tillamook	2
Coos	[illegible]	Union	1
Curry	2	Umatilla	4
Douglas	7	Wasco	3
Grant	3	Washington	4
Jackson	4	Yamhill	8
Josephine	2
Lake	2	Total	115
Lane	7

In making this call for a Republican State Convention, the State Central Committee realize the fact that too much importance cannot be attached to preliminary operations This being a government of the people, by the people, for the people,' the agents or officers of the government should be in accord with the people According to the general accepted plan of selecting candidates, the first steps are taken in our primary county and State conventions These form the ground work of political organization upon which the whole superstructure must stand or fall If honest men desire honest officials, is it asking too much that they lay aside for a day all other business affairs and devote the time necessary to select proper persons to attend county and State conventions?

In view of these considerations and of the important interests at stake we earnestly appeal to all legal voters who are in sympathy with the principles of the Republican party, regardless of personal likes and dislikes to rally at the primaries and see to it that none but true men are entrusted with the business of preparing for the coming political campaign Select men who are not only true themselves in the broadest sense of that term but men of discernment, men who can and will choose wisely for the good of the people in defiance of "rings" and cliques "

It is unnecessary at this time to reiterate in this call the principles of the Republican party, its glorious record is still fresh in the memory of an enlightened public it is sound upon all the great principles affecting our national existence it is the party of progress and development it exposes corruption wherever found and inflicts punishment upon conspirators, fearful and sudden, without respect of person or position, it favors the universal enlightenment of the people without trammel of creed or ism and its banner is found in the van leading on the hosts of reformers in all that tends to higher civilization and enlarged freedom

BIFROST THE RAINBOW BRIDGE

A NORSE LEGEND

When the Immortals stood in light
First on the archway of the skies
The home of seven fold glory bright
All thrilling with a sweet surprise

They triumphed in that shining place—
Balder the beautiful and Frey
And all of Asgard's stately race
New born, and radiant from on high

But their strong brother who had gone
Perforce through storm and cloud and wrath
Before them walked the bridge alone
And proved his way the quicker path

Thus there are those who lightly tread
Untired upon the rainbow bridge
While airs of heaven play round the head
Serene they mount its fairy ridge

Others there are who, lost and blind
Struggle in mist and maze and dark
And all they love and long for find
Without a path or guiding spark

Yet sooner reach the gleaming goal
Than they who freely mount aloft,
Where color warms the happy soul,
In rays concentric, pulses soft.

Take courage then ye sons of strength
Who fain must struggle night and day
Conquering ye gain your peace at length
The dark way is the shorter way

—Scribner for March.

A MODEL BOY

PIPO AND THE ARTIST

The first time I saw Pipo he was lying on the wall of the public garden in Venice, fishing with a pin hook. He apparently consisted of two brown bare legs and a thing of shreds and patches called trousers The rest of him was hanging over the lagoon

"Halloo, young man," said I, "stay where you are a minute. I want to make a sketch of you."

He lifted his head and showed me one of those delicious child faces that belong only to Da Vinci's angels. Two great innocent brown eyes looked frankly and steadily into mine The mouth wore a sweet, shadowy smile which Leonardo cast over the lips of all his women and children

I extended my hand The young fisherman dropped his pin hook and laid his dingy little paw therein

"This is more than mere circumstance," I said; "this is an affinity I will take this child into my heart and adopt him while I stay in Venice. I am a poor, lonely Bohemian, this delightful boy is also a Bohemian, judging from his clothes. Let us be beggars and happy together."

I ended by proposing that he should share my humble home and fortunes, provided his mother would let him, clean brushes, go on errands, amuse the dogs, and make himself generally useful, and pose for me by the hour.

"I will," he cried, tumbling off the wall. "Come along, Illustrissimo"

So we went home to the dull abode of poverty. I introduced Pipo to the World, Sin, and the Flesh. Don't tremble in your virtuous shoes. They were only my dogs—poor outcast curs that drifted with the tide in the lagoon to my door. They were lean, hungry-eyed creatures, always on the alert for blows and kicks. What better friends could an unrecognized artist have than three drowning, starving, miserable dogs? They were four-footed epigrams against fortune

It was too late to begin work that day I could only form high hopes of Pipo on canvas We partook of a frugal repast. Pipo was initiated into the use of the fork Then I offered for his consideration the first of a series of lectures on the manly art of washing plates. Hitherto the dogs had neatly polished them and I had merely touched them up with the towel. This is the poetry of an artist's life

And yet, now that I have made me a name, now that friends and honor and fame are mine, I long with a wistful sadness for those dear old days in far off Venice. Something I have lost which then made life glorious. If I could only step out into my loggia at sunset, after a hard day's work, and hear in the rustle of the trees in the garden, in the roar of the surf at the Lido, in the vesper bell sweeping over the lagoon, "The world is an infinite possibility. Go forth in the might of thy genius and youth and conquer the realm."

I painted Pipo just as he was, in his rags and his dirt and his angelic impishness. I wanted to paint him semi nude, for the sake of that ripe, golden skin of his. But I felt that my picture was destined for American eyes and I merely enlarged the holes in his garments.

Pipo began to manifest an alarming fondness for brushes and colors. "Is it possible that I may prove the Cimabue to this Giotto?" I queried "Giotto tended sheep and Pipo fished with a pin hook. Better that he should dredge mud from Venetian canals all his life. He shall never wield the brush with my consent."

This model boy of mine had one vice which all my efforts could not uproot from his youthful breast. He had the face of an angel, but he used language that would have brought a blush to the cheeks of a shipload of pirates.

Pipo soon settled to his own satisfaction that when I went to America he was to go likewise. I encouraged the idea from educational motives.

"Pipo, how long is it since you washed your face?"

Pipo counted his fingers.

"A week."

"Well, when you go to America, Pipo, my boy, you'll have to wash your face every day and your hands, too, for there, my Venetian aristocrat, the people have a plebeian prejudice in favor of cleanliness.

Pipo went off and, returning said with a confidential smile, "Me clean now, me go to America."

Pipo came to me shortly after, and with a graceful bow, offered me a cigarette from a package in which he had just invested It was Saturday our week's work was done we had squared accounts, and Pipo felt like a millionaire.

I accepted and lighted it "Look here young man, when you go to America you'll have to give up the use of the weed In the land of the free, and so forth my friend, little boys of eight are not expected to be quite as far advanced in dissipation as old fellows of twenty."

Thus did I administer moral instruction in small doses to my untutored savage

Things began to look black in the little old house on the lagoon Pipo and I had been subsisting for some time on shipwreck rations Never a foot crossed my humble threshold with intent to order pictures Robinson Crusoe and Friday were not more entirely alone on the island than were Pipo and I there in that water bound cottage, with only our bright dreams and the prophetic glory of sea and sky to keep us from utter wretchedness. I was up to the ears in debt with Pipo at this time But he understood my position and did not dun me. He was a dear good fellow, this Pipo of mine and would rather have gone cigaretteless to the end of his days than have brought me face to face with insolvency by asking for centimes

"I am poor Pipo!" I said at last openly and calmly "poor as a church mouse or an artist"

"I'll tell you something, padrone mio that will bring you good luck," answered Pipo looking at me with his great earnest eyes

"What is it?"

"You see me want two cents me buy

I collected the required amount with some difficulty and cautioned Pipo to be careful how he laid it out

He came back with a small cage in his hand containing three great black crickets

"They bring you good luck padrone Everybody in Venice keeps them in the spring

"Well, I haven't much faith in them myself, not being a child of the south sunken in superstition and slavery but we will hang them over the fireplace and see what turns up."

The crickets sang on bravely for a week and did their best to bring me good fortune, I have no doubt, poor beasts. One morning I took down the cage and behold there were only two legless torsos of crickets Their amputated limbs lay about the floor of the cage in expressive confusion The third had emigrated Later I found him half cremated behind the fireplace. "Pipo!" I said mournfully, "your crickets are a delusion and a snare"

One morning not long after I was painting as usual and Pipo was posing patiently before me Suddenly there came a loud ring at the door What could it be? Creditors I had none and visitors never The dogs began to howl I looked at myself I wore a coat with fifty two patches I told Pipo to keep his attitude I put on a bold face and by way of encouragement composed as I went to the door a new paragraph for my future biography in the "Lives of Distinguished American Artists" "It is related of him that even at this early stage of his career he had such confidence in the might and power of his genius that he did not hesitate to answer his own door bell in a ragged coat.

A white haired gentleman stepped into the hall The dogs swarmed over him at once

"I have been told there was an artist living here" he said looking about him—

"Down my dears, down I beg of you

"I am the artist or at least I try to be one

I thought his face looked familiar I remembered then who he was The winter I was in Rome I heard a good deal about him a benevolent old fellow who hunted out poor artists and helped them on He had had a son mad after art, and refused to let him study The boy ran away from home came to Europe painted awhile gave hope of a brilliant career and then falling ill died of sheer poverty and nothing else And so the father did what little he could to atone for his fault Oh I remembered him well I ushered him into the studio

"That's a very nice little boy" he said patting Pipo's shaven pate "Does he go to school?"

"He does not He revels in ignorance and smokes"

"Ah, I see you are painting his portrait—a young fisherman Beautiful thing! Is it ordered?"

I forced a pallid smile "Orders are not plentiful in this establishment. I am painting entirely for glory at present

"Then would you allow me to secure it for a friend at home who is making a collection of native art? Could you finish it by the end of the month? And I know that artists must have brushes and colors I should like to leave an installment if you will permit me

He laid a purse on the table

"Never mind thanks I had a son once myself Come up and see me at my hotel"

With his dear old face all aglow with kindness he started for the door He waved me good bye with his umbrella, "Come and see me and we'll talk it all over"

"Come to my arms, O most blessed of Pipos It's all through you and your crickets!"

Who says that ravens no longer minister to the needs of hungry prophets? Who says that angels walk not abroad in human guise?

The dogs barked for delight, and Pipo and I danced a jig for joy

From that day onward life prospered amain Friends gathered about, my orders assaulted me on every side, and I exchanged the picturesque poverty of the house on the lagoon for the sumptuous hall of a palace on the Grand Canal

He pleaded hard to be taken to America, but I felt that there he would be misunderstood His innocent fondness for the weed would be labeled juvenile depravity his poetic raggedness would be accounted squalor

So I left him in that beautiful city where the marble domes rise from the water like great white lilies, and the boats dance over the sea like scarlet-winged birds There where life is all one golden afternoon, I left my Pipo.

We had borne joy and sorrow together, and the parting was hard And wherever I go I carry about me the memory of two innocent child-eyes which finds its way continually on to my canvas

And when I hear the critics say, "How much this face reminds me of Du Vinci" I laugh wishfully, and think of the tender child mouth that smiled up at me from the garden wall that lonely summer evening in far off Venice

The ordinary amount of transactions in the local money market is noted but there are no new features and the same description of the situation which was good yesterday is good to day. The city banks are abundantly able to accommodate their regular customers with all the funds that are needed in the way of business while outside parties control a good deal of capital which is seeking investment in loans or otherwise. There is evidence however of a lack of genuine business life and vigorous growth in the various departments both of finance and trade that are by no means encouraging and the despondent are continually magnifying all such indications and predicting "hard times," dull trade etc. To those who think the attack on this coast is unpromising we commend the perusal of the following extract of a letter written last month in New York City

During the week there were forty one failures some of them very large One firm that had eighteen ten stores in various parts of the city went under owing $600 000 more than it could pay the cause being shrinkage in the value of goods and the terrible falling off in trade It was shown that some of the stores which formerly did a profitable business had not for a year sold enough to pay running expenses and that none of them had made a cent. This failure took down three other houses and each of them will carry down some smaller ones The owners of business buildings are shaking in their shoes for they don't know from one day to another but their tenants may fail and they know very well that when a store gets empty it is going to stay empty for a time Half the business houses in town are either empty or being occupied at half the old rates The effect of this is visible in everything There has been but very few big balls this winter and the few have been very thinly attended Then those who do attend are content to go very modestly attired and without any very special display The fact is the jewels of a great many fashionable dames are lying very safe in bankers safes as security for money that was absolutely necessary for the head of the house to have to save himself from going under and the iron that enters madam's soul is the horrible thought that the sacrifice may not save him after all If it does not she has lost her diamonds without saving her husband

In a country with the resources of ours having been without any unusual calamity in the shape of war or a failure of crops for over a decade to impoverish it the existence of such a condition of affairs in the great center of trade certainly indicates bad management somewhere and the man who can restore business to safer channels and prosperity to the people is the man for the head of the nation come he from what section or political party he may

At no time in the past five years has the shipment of dairy products to the San Francisco markets been less profitable to shippers than the present season and yet prices here have been higher than the average of former years

The General Market

For imported goods, as well as domestic products, is very quiet awaiting the time for the full opening of the spring trade. There had accumulated considerable freight for the Walla Walla country since the stoppage of the boats on the Upper Columbia. The shipment of this freight will be brisk for awhile now that navigation is resumed From this valley there were some buyers in the market the past week but the bulk of the trade will probably not set in for a week or two The various wholesale and jobbing houses are well stocked for the spring's business and should circumstances take a favorable turn the volume of transactions will be larger than ever before At present the low prices for produce tend to depress other departments of trade and the appreciation of these commodities in the markets of demand is one contingency on which depends to some extent, the activity in trade in the future Latest advices show no change in the foreign or San Francisco markets from the condition noticed yesterday, and our quotations are renewed

In the merchandise market prices for staple goods are maintained, with a probable early decline of 1/4@1 cent per lb on sugars Coffees are firm, while salt is in large supply, and prices favor buyers Teas are in good stock, and former quotations unchanged

Miscellaneous.

Below will be found the amount of grain in sight in the States and Canada, February 5 1876 Wheat, 17 119 181 bushels, corn 4 716,149 bushels oats 8,038,803 bushels rye, 118 479 bushels, barley, 2 193,112 bushels

Since the 1st of January 26,708 boxes of apples have been shipped from Portland to San Francisco, against 4 776 boxes in January and February of last year.

Shipments of oats from this port to San Francisco since January 1st have been 48,447 bushels, against 49,233 bushels in the same months last year The shipments of March '75 however were upwards of 75 000 bushels in the first two months of 1874, 79,511

The shipment of potatoes and onions to San Francisco by the last steamer were much larger than usual and show an active demand in that market for those vegetables

All reports from the interior of the State which reach us lead to the belief that not near so much land has been planted to wheat up to date this season as was last year

Shipping Intelligence.

The bark Dawn has completed her cargo of wheat for San Francisco and gone down the river

The bark Doune Castle is discharging ballast at Flanders wharf

The Br ship Oriflamme will finish loading in two or three days and will probably clear early next week

The W H Thorndike, now at Sitka with a cargo of coal from Philadelphia for the government, is reported to be coming to this port—probably seeking

The barkentine Tam O'Shanter now in port will be loaded with wheat by the Salem Flouring Mills for San Francisco

The Records of Two Thieves

[illegible]CAGO, March 4—The part which G[illegible] [illegible]nson of Baltimore and George A Arm[illegible] in Belknap's disgrace has led to an e[illegible] of the army records which show th[illegible] their places through their own scandal[illegible] upon charges by superior officers a[illegible] courtmartial and not through the [illegible] ality of the late Secretary of War [illegible] captain in the 10th cavalry and was a[illegible] a general courtmartial at St Louis [illegible] on a charge of fraud against the [illegible] which fraud consisted in drawing [illegible] for the same month The full [illegible] of the court show a series of frauds [illegible] two years of time practiced not onl[illegible] government at New York Philadelphia B[illegible] [illegible] and other points but for false ch[illegible] and medical practice Robinson als[illegible] each time he drew his pay to co[illegible] The court found him guilty and p[illegible] sentence Does therefore sentence Capt [illegible] Robinson to be cashiered to forfeit to th[illegible] all pay and all [illegible] now due or t[illegible] and to have his [illegible] place[illegible] punishment publi[illegible] and St Louis George A Arm[illegible] was in the 10th cavalry and was tried [illegible] courtmartial at Leavenworth March 12 [illegible] dismissed from the service by con[illegible] General Sherman

With reference to the dispatch of March [illegible] Capt Geo A Armes with Capt Geo[illegible] in criminal practices while office[illegible] Capt Armes says Although they [illegible] the same regiment they were neither f[illegible] [illegible] It appears from official docum[illegible] was tried and dismissed from servic[illegible] preferred against him by two office[illegible] Armes had previously preferred cha[illegible] which they were tried and within tw[illegible] after found guilty and imprisoned in [illegible] for three years and fined $[illegible] military committees of each house, in [illegible] in their report on the bill authori[illegible] the Secretary of War to give to A[illegible] honorable discharge say there was nothin[illegible] to justify the sentence that was in[illegible] courtmartial that the charges were [illegible] motives of jealousy and revenge [illegible] show that there was a deter[illegible] the part of those officers who instigated [illegible] to have Armes dismissed at any c[illegible] which allusion is above made becau[illegible] which he was honorably discha[illegible] year's extra pay A letter is on file i[illegible] department written by Capt George T. R[illegible] Baltimore to Secretary Belknap, on [illegible] 1875 while the finding of the c[illegible] in his case and its recomm[illegible] dismissal on account of his selling d[illegible] accounts etc were pending before the [illegible] In his letter, Robinson wrote tha[illegible] J S Evans & Co post traders at [illegible] they had to pay money for Gen [illegible] etc that he was at that time Ap[illegible] charges against them for malic[illegible] of the Secretary of War He continued [illegible] believe that these slanders on your [illegible] are false and I shall bring the firm [illegible] whether I am in or out of the arm[illegible] desire transmit all the documents [illegible] for your information and for such [illegible] may see fit to take His letter exp[illegible] documents consisted of memorand[illegible] of things he had heard said by [illegible] other members of the firm The findin[illegible] were approved by the President an[illegible] was shortly afterwards cashiered o[illegible] as stated

General Sherman Interviewed ab[illegible] Knap

CHICAGO March 4—The Times' St L[illegible] correspondent had an interview with Gen[illegible] yesterday concerning the recent startli[illegible] of Belknap's official delinquencies [illegible] said I was astonished beyond m[illegible] have known Belknap a long time and [illegible] occasion to doubt his integrity I know [illegible] his record is without a blot He has al[illegible] regarded as a man of scrupulous honor [illegible] not know the cause of this demorali[illegible] having lived in Washington during his [illegible] I can form a pretty good idea of [illegible] opinion his downfall is due more to th[illegible] organization of Washington society [illegible] anything else. I refer to the ridiculou[illegible] of those who move in the first so[illegible] the capital [illegible] within their salaries When I was there [illegible] member of the cabinet who could s[illegible] with his income [illegible] could afford to pay most any price for s[illegible] Nevertheless [illegible] Chandler who has gone into the [illegible] came to St Louis [illegible] whose [illegible] is so ample [illegible] salary [illegible] Outside of these two none of the public [illegible] Washington can live within their sala[illegible] Washington [illegible] support [illegible] society there [illegible] family [illegible] about Belknap [illegible] fellows [illegible] characters [illegible] officers, but the [illegible] of my [illegible] interfering [illegible] War.
